Differentiating Features

Features ENCAP's AST® that benefit the seed and soil while the interlocking granules distribute grass seeds evenly to repair the grass area.

Contains high quality perennial bluegrass (20%), turf-type tall fescue (40%), and ryegrass (40%) seeds.

Miracle Power of PAM™

The mulch contains two polymers, one that works in the soil, and one that works above soil. The first is a water soluble PAM (WSPAM) that is activated by water. This penetrating polymer has been shown to hold seeds in place, reduce time for emergence, improve survival and growth of plants, and improve root growth. It also improves the soil's ability to absorb water and hold fertilizer. The other polymer swells and holds moisture at the surface. This polymer serves as a "when to water" indicator - SPARKLE™.
